Evaluation Letter for the Implementation of the Erasmus+ Project “Imagination and Creativity in Youth Work (ICREYOU)”

KA153YOU – Agreement No: 2025-1-PL01-KA153-YOU-000297837

To the team of Stowarzyszenie “OPEN SOUL”,

On behalf of SKE Pissouriou (Cyprus), cooperating closely with ACPELIA, we would like to express our full satisfaction and appreciation regarding the successful implementation of the Erasmus+ project “Imagination and Creativity in Youth Work (ICREYOU)”.

As a partner organisation supporting the participation and evaluation of Cypriot participants, we actively contributed to the implementation, follow-up, and dissemination phases of the project. Based on our experience, we confirm that the project was carried out with a high level of professionalism, consistency, and respect for Erasmus+ quality standards.

Implementation and Cooperation

The cooperation between the applicant organisation OPEN SOUL, ACPELIA, and all partner organisations was excellent throughout all phases of the project. Communication was clear, timely, and transparent, ensuring smooth coordination and effective problem-solving whenever needed.

The preparatory phase was well-structured and ensured that participants were properly informed, prepared, and motivated before the mobility. During the implementation phase in Poland (02–10 January 2026), the hosting organisation demonstrated strong organisational capacity, flexibility, and attention to detail, creating a safe, inclusive, and inspiring learning environment.

Educational Quality and Methodology

The training programme successfully addressed its main objective of fostering creativity and innovation in youth work, as also highlighted in other partner evaluations.

Participants from Cyprus reported a highly engaging learning experience, benefiting from a wide range of non-formal education methods, including:

- Creative workshops and experiential learning activities
- Group collaboration and peer-learning processes
- Reflection sessions supporting personal and professional development

These methodologies allowed participants to step outside their comfort zones, enhance their creative thinking, and gain practical tools directly applicable in their local youth work contexts.

Impact on Participants and Organisation

The impact of the project on Cypriot participants was clearly positive and measurable.

Participants improved their:

- Creativity and innovation competences
- Communication and teamwork skills
- Confidence in facilitating non-formal education activities

At organisational level, SKE Pissouriou strengthened its capacity to support youth work initiatives, particularly in rural and community-based contexts. The project also contributed to enriching our cooperation with ACPELIA and expanding our European network.

Inclusion and Participant Support

We would like to highlight the strong commitment of the organisers to inclusion and participant well-being. Special attention was given to ensuring equal participation opportunities, especially for young people with fewer opportunities, creating a supportive and respectful learning environment for all.

Overall Evaluation and Recommendation

Based on our evaluation, we confirm that:

- The project was successfully implemented in line with its objectives and Erasmus+ standards
- The hosting organisation OPEN SOUL demonstrated excellent coordination, facilitation, and organisational skills
- The partnership functioned effectively, promoting collaboration, trust, and shared learning

We highly value this cooperation and strongly recommend OPEN SOUL as a reliable and competent partner for future Erasmus+ projects.

Conclusion

SKE Pissouriou is proud to have contributed to the implementation and evaluation of the ICREYOU project. The experience has been meaningful, impactful, and fully aligned with our mission of supporting youth development, creativity, and social inclusion within our community. We look forward to continuing this fruitful cooperation in future initiatives.

With appreciation,

Haris Stylianidis
